Pay Boosts, Repair Work Take Big Bite

Streets Fund Expenses Hiked $7,030 This Year

Appropriations from the city streets fund has increased $7,030.57 during the first four months of 1954 compared to the same four months last year, City Auditor Mrs. Helen Coyne reported today.

Rising wage costs and increased labor man-hours caused the increase, Mrs. Coyne explained. Actual material costs have decreased as compared to last year.

A total of $22,524.44 has been spent from the streets fund this year. Of that total, $19,857.67 was for payroll, the remainder, $2,666.77 for materials.

During the first four months of 1953 the sum of $15,493.87 was spent from the streets fund, $12,334.36 of which was for payroll and $3,159.51 for materials.

Pay Hike Boosts Expenses

Part of the increase is due to the 14 per cent wage hike for city employees authorized by City Council last November.

Soon after Service Director James Feiler assumed his duties in January, a general clean-up and repair of equipment took place at the city garage, which accounts for the increased man-hours of labor during the months when street crews customarily work fewer hours, it is pointed out.

During the first four months of 1953 two used trucks were purchased by the service department to replace two worn out pieces of equipment.

One of the replaced trucks was repaired, using parts of both, and made into an oil truck for oiling dirt streets.

The large grader and the roller also were repaired and all equipment was painted and lettered.

New Equipment Added

Flasher signals, directional lights, fire extinguishers, pot flares, first aid equipment and trailer hitches were added to all trucks.

The department's air compressor, which once was mounted on a truck has been put in a trailer and now can be pulled by any piece of equipment in the garage.

The service crews are continuing work on streets and, according to Feiler, should have all the streets in good shape, as far as patching goes, by June 1.

Plans then call for the grading of dirt streets and ditching until the crews will be needed for the rebuilding of State St. in the summer.

The first junior board meetings will be June 14.

Four-H junior fair board members will be selected at a county 4-H council meeting Thursday at the courthouse.

V. B. Lemley of Lisbon heads the junior fair committee. Others are Clarence Crosser and Floyd Lower, both of Lisbon, P. R. Corey of Columbiana and Harold Windram of Leetonia.

Adams Claims Cohn 'Hounded' Him For Favors

Denies Scheme Used As Hostage To Get Probe Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators get a chance today to ask Army Counselor John G. Adams for more details on the roles he says top White House aides and Atty. Gen. Brownell played in bringing the McCarthy-Army row to a head.

This is the 17th day of hearings in the Senate Investigations subcommittee's search for the truth in conflicting charges flung back and forth by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top Pentagon officials and their aides.

Adams, in his second full day of testimony, stuck pretty closely yesterday to the account which he and Secretary of the Army Stevens had given previously: that Roy M. Cohn and, to a lesser degree, McCarthy used improper pressures to win favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

"Pounded and Pounded" Adams said at one point that he had been "pounded and pounded and hounded and hounded."

Schine was a consultant to the McCarthy subcommittee before being drafted last November. McCarthy and Cohn have stepped temporarily from their respective roles as chairman and chief counsel.

City, Merchant Discussion On Road Job Held

Succeeding in an effort to keep newspapermen away from their meeting, city officials and a group of retail merchants conferred last night on plans for sharing the city's part of expense in connection with the State Highway Department's rebuilding of downtown East State St. this summer.

The meeting, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, was attended by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, President of Council James Aldom, City Councilmen Rudy Linder and Herman C. Kniseley, Service Director James Feiler and about 10 members of the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The basis of discussion was on the financial and engineering aspects of the State Street paving," a merchants' spokesman said afterwards. "The discussion was informal and no definite plans were made pending further surveys."

The city is seeking financial assistance from the downtown merchants on the city's cost of widening the street and re-setting curb line speckles and new street lights.

French Fly 1st Wounded Out Of Fallen Fortress

U. S. Fires Final '54 H-Bomb Test Experiments Termed Success by Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has fired a final hydrogen explosion in the 1954 test series at the mid-Pacific proving ground.

A joint Atomic Energy Commission - Defense Department announcement said last night the series had been completed and "the tests were successful in the development of thermonuclear weapons."

This was much like language used at the end of previous test series and, like the previous announcements, it did not specify how many bombs had been set off. However, three previous explosions had been announced — a mighty blast on March 1, another explosion 26 days later and a third on April 6 — leaving open to speculation whether one or more than one detonation occurred after that time.

"Thermonuclear" is the scientist's term indicating a hydrogen explosion.

Announcement of the end of the series, which drew foreign protests because radioactive particles showered well outside the test area, came on the same day that a five-power conference opened in London, aimed at ending the arms race and outlawing nuclear weapon warfare.

There was some speculation of a connection between the timing of yesterday's announcement, continuing protests abroad and the London conference.

The joint announcement by Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss and Secretary of Defense Wilson said of the 1954 tests:

"They were essential to our national interest and have contributed materially to the security of the United States and the free world."

Area Home Damaged Badly By Blaze

COLUMBIANA — The residence of Howard Hasson on Route 164, about two miles north of Columbiana in Mahoning County, was badly damaged by fire last night.

The entire interior suffered damage from fire, smoke and water. At 10:35 p.m. the North Lima Fire Dept. called the Columbiana department with which it has a mutual aid agreement and the two departments managed to save the house from destruction.

No cause for the fire could be determined, but it is felt it may have originated from the furnace. Columbiana firemen could give no estimate of the damage and had no information as to the insurance.

FRENCH EMPLACEMENTS HAVE FULL FIELD OF FIRE—This aerial view shows the new-style forts built by the French along the road from Hanoi to Haiphong which is their chief supply route in the rice-rich Red Delta area. The guns within the emplacements have a 360 degree field of fire. The French fear that this area, which has been constantly harassed by guerrilla action, is the Red-led Vietnam's next target now that Dien Bien Phu has fallen.

City Cleanup Is Scheduled Next Week

City Service Director James Feiler today announced the schedule for the annual city cleanup next week.

Tuesday, city trucks will pick up refuse in the section south of W. State St. and west of S. Ellsworth.

Wednesday, the area north of W. State St. and west of N. Ellsworth will get attention.

Thursday, trucks will canvass the section south of E. State St. and east of S. Ellsworth.

Friday, refuse will be picked up in the area north of E. State and east of N. Ellsworth.

Residents should put the refuse in containers and set them at street curbs the day before trucks are scheduled to canvass their section because no return trips will be made, Feiler said. Trucks will pick up all refuse except ashes or garbage.

He was arrested on Route 30 by state highway patrolmen Thursday night at 10.

At traffic hearings Thursday two women drivers, both charged with driving left of center on Route 30, were fined a total of $25 and costs. They were Miss Isabell Timmons of RD 1, Negley, a teacher at Oak Grove School, $15 and Miss Ella McCartney, Lisbon High School pupil, $10.

2 Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Two persons were injured in two of the three area traffic mishaps investigated by state highway patrolmen yesterday and today.

Wilford Sprowl, 40, of Baltimore, Md., fell asleep at 5:30 a.m. today as he was driving west on Route 341, just west of the Pennsylvania State line, causing his car to crash into a guard rail.

Sprowl sustained contusions of the chest and contusions and abrasions of the hands and knees and was treated at the Salem City Hospital.

Cars operated by Janet Rudebush, 17, of Mechanicstown and Isabelle Timmons, 42, of RD 1, Negley, sideswiped at 5:35 p.m. Thursday on the Summitville - Augusta Road, two miles west of Summitville.

The girl sustained contusions of the head and concussion and was treated by a Hanovertown doctor.

A truck driven by Blaine Ellis, 26, of Canton struck the rear of a car operated by Virginia Popa, 19, of 450 Aetna St. at 6:15 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Routes 62 and 534, as the auto driver was slowing down to make a turn.

Ellis was cited for following another vehicle too closely and the girl driver, for failing to signal a turn.

Bidault to Give French Plan For Indo Truce

GENEVA (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault planned to elaborate France's proposals for an Indochina armistice today after his government's tight squeeze past its second crisis since the Geneva conference began.

Bidault was slated to lead off debate before today's closed session of the nine-delegation Indochina conference.

Informed sources said he would reply to a series of questions put before the conference Wednesday by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in an attempt to have the various proposals clarified.

Sought Opposing Views

Eden particularly sought the opposing views on France's proposals for regrouping of all troops in areas of Indochina to be agreed on, withdrawal of Vietnamese forces from Laos and Cambodia, and disarming of irregulars.

Eden's key question was "Are we in favor of international supervision?"

A source close to Bidault said he was happy about the French confidence vote but realized the slim two-vote margin of victory did not do much to strengthen his hand in trying to resist Communist peace terms.

Bidault Position Weakened

Observers in Paris, however, felt Bidault's position at Geneva had been weakened because it was now a question whether he represents a majority of the French Parliament.

There is increasing belief in French circles here that the Communists may stall the Geneva talks until the Vietnamese forces launch a major offensive against Hanoi, the center of France's holding in north Indochina.

Defenders Halt Thrust At Hanoi

No Word Received On De Castries Or Nurse

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French began airlifting their seriously wounded troops from Dien Bien Phu today. The Vietnamese indicated they would release at least 450 of the casualties from the captured fortress.

That figure was 250 less than previous French estimates of the number of serious cases. The Communist-led rebels had reported they captured 1,400 wounded in all when Dien Bien Phu fell a week ago.

The French high command announced the first contingent of the most gravely wounded arrived about noon today at the royal Laotian capital of Luang Prabang, 115 miles to the southwest. Dakota transport planes were to rush them from there to Hanoi and other points with hospital facilities.

A total of 32 wounded were expected in Hanoi by late this afternoon.

Airstrip Battered

Since only helicopters and small planes can use the war-battered, shell-pocked Dien Bien Phu airstrip, the French expected the airlifting of the 450 men to take at least two weeks. The planes could carry only one, three or six passengers each.

In the Red River delta, meanwhile, the French counted new "serious losses" after beating off an attack by 2,000 to 3,000 rebels Vietnam target since the fall of miles south of Hanoi.

It was the biggest attack so far this year in the delta, the major Vietnam target since he fall of Dien Bien Phu.

French fighters and bombers plastered the attackers again today, forcing the Communist-led troops to seek hideouts deep in the limestone hills around Phuly. Fighters sprayed columns of fleeing Vietnamese and bombers rained 1,000-pound bombs on suspected rebel bases.

Drop New Supplies

In addition to the airlift for the seriously wounded, the French sent four big cargo planes off from Hanoi for Dien Bien Phu to drop tons of food and medical supplies for the French Union wounded there.

The Vietnamese had requested the additional supplies. A French high command spokesman said there was "no indication" the Vietnamese intended to repair the battered main air strip at Dien Bien Phu to the extent that it could receive other than light planes.

Reliable sources said that Dr. Pierre Huard, Hanoi University

Plenty To Cheer About Soon

How Many 'Hips' Should Go Before 'Hurrah,' British Ask

LONDON (P)—The Queen is coming home, Roger Banister has just shattered the four-minute-mile barrier, and all sorts of events are going to call for organized cheering.

Stickler for propriety, Britons far and wide are wondering whether all through the years they have been cheering correctly. The question being discussed: How many "hips" should precede "hurrah?" Some hold three, others think two hips more in keeping with traditions of restrained British behavior.

The forum, as usual is the letters column of the London Times.

The question of genteel practice on occasions calling for polite racket from the mob was raised by Miss Celia Burlison, head of the school of the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Tunbridge Wells. She wrote:

"On the day of the cup final match (football) I heard on the wireless the captain of the winning team call for cheers for Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother. He said 'hip-hip.' On the next day there was a broadcast from a ship which met Her Majesty the Queen on her way from Tobruk to Malta. The officer who called for the cheers said 'hip-hip-hip.' Which is correct?"

David MacKenzie of London advised Miss Burlison to stick to the shorter version—"easier to shout." Alan Moore of Whatlington was rather annoyed: "Must even cheers be right or wrong by rule?" he asked. "Hereabouts the cuckoo has been calling 'cuck-cuckoo' sometimes, and sometimes 'cuckoo.' The latter is more usual, but not being a cuckoo, I do not ask which is correct."

An international twist was injected by Francois Lafitte of the Oxford and Cambridge Club in the Pall Mall. He wrote:

"In France in my boyhood we always did it in triplicate: 'Ip-hip-ip-ouraaa.'"

Hays Asks Agency About Religious Chief

WASHINGTON (P)—An Ohio congressman asked the U.S. Information Agency why it has to have a chief of religious policy.

The question was put by Rep. Hays (D-Ohio). The agency controls the Voice of America and other government overseas information services.

In a letter, Hays said he had received a complaint from a woman in Carroll County, Ohio.

She said that for the government to hire a religious adviser is a violation of the constitutional idea of keeping the church and state separate.

At the agency, a spokesman told a reporter Dr. Elton Trueblood, a Quaker, advises on religious content of Voice broadcasts and the selection of religious books for libraries overseas.

Trueblood, he said, is a former professor of philosophy at Earlham College in Richmond, Ind. He was hired about a month ago, but the job had previously been filled for several years, the spokesman added.

Too-Strong Gorilla Won't Budge From Zoo Cage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Columbus Zoo attendants figured the Baron, a 200-pound gorilla, was none too secure in his cage because he could bend its bars. Trying to move him, they used heavy tools to separate the bars but the Baron bent them back into place.

Then they tried to lure him into a trap box using bananas as bait. The Baron calmly reached into the box, stuck a foot on the spring to prevent it from catching and pulled out the bananas.

In desperation, the attendants decided to lure the Baron out by using Christina, a female gorilla, as bait and bringing her to the Baron's cage.

There's just one hitch to that. They can't get Christina out of her cage either.

Liquor Board Suspends Inspector Two Weeks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—The state liquor department today notified the state civil service commission of the two-week suspension beginning Sunday of Ernest S. Bakenie, Cleveland for disciplinary reasons.

Bakenie is a field inspector in the Akron-Canton-Younstown district. No details of the suspension were given.

Korea Seen Nation Of Orphans, Wounded Vets

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Korea "appears to be a nation of orphans and disabled veterans," Henry J. Mahady, national commander of the American Veterans of World War II, said today on his return from Korea.

"Nothing can describe the misery and horror of the war's impact on the Koreans," the Amvets commander said.

"We can't let them go by default to the Communists, whose only secret of success is that they've come to feed hungry people at the opportune time."

The attorney from Latrobe, Pa., was one of six representatives of veterans organizations who toured Korea in connection with the 20-million-dollar relief drive of the veterans committee of the American-Korean Foundation.

Home Run Figures In Shoplifting Case

CINCINNATI (P)—The ninth-inning home run that Bob Hofman of the New York Giants hit Wednesday to beat the Cincinnati Redlegs 2-1 figured in a shoplifting case yesterday.

Hauled into police court on a charge of stealing two sets of cuff links from a downtown store, Ray A. Moore, 34, told Judge A. L. Luebbers:

"I've never done anything like this before in my life. Judge, I was drinking and listening to the baseball game. When Hofman hit that home run in the ninth and the Giants beat the Reds, I really started drinking. And I don't remember anything after that."

The judge fined Moore $50 and costs.

Cleveland Signal Jams Texas Police Radios

LUBBOCK, Tex. (P)—A radio signal from the Cleveland, Ohio, Police Department has been jamming west Texas police radios for two or three days. Yesterday, a Lubbock officer tried to say howdy. There was complete silence, then: "All local units beware. A man from Texas is on the air!"

JAILED FOR NEGLECT

CANTON, Ohio (P)—A 32-year-old mother was sentenced yesterday to a year in the Marysville Reformatory and fined $500 after she pleaded guilty to neglecting her 4-year-old son. The woman, Ellen Deal, admitted beating the child. Her husband, Howard Deal, 31, was convicted on the same charge Monday and has asked for a new trial. Stark County Juvenile Judge Paul Van Nostran passed sentence.

Former Salem Man Writes Fifth Book

Dr. Paul C. Bartholomew, professor of political science at Notre Dame University and a native of Salem, has written his fifth book, called "Leading Cases on the Constitution."

The preface acknowledges assistance from Francis J. Carey of 445 W. Third St.

Dr. Bartholomew's latest book deals with decisions of the United States Supreme Court that have been most influential in the development of the Constitution of the United States.

The purpose of the book is to make readily available in convenient form the gist of these decisions. No previous book has done just that. For the student, for the teacher, for the casual reader who wishes to know the basic points of a case, the book will be especially valuable. For the person who wishes to go beyond that, a listing of leading correlative cases has been appended to each case covered.

Almost 400 cases are covered and these were selected with particular reference to the fields of political science, law, history, economics and sociology.

All of Dr. Bartholomew's books are in the field of political science and all but one in his specialty, American government and constitutional law.

The quadrennial mock national party conventions at Notre Dame, which have attracted nationwide attention in their unique success, were originated and have been sponsored by Dr. Bartholomew.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (P)—A 68-year-old man goes on trial in City Police Court here June 2 because he likes to swim by himself half a mile from shore.

The charge is disorderly conduct.

Lifeguard Capt. Don Kirkwood complained that every time A. W. Johnson indulges in his feat crowds gather on the beach. Lifeguards have to devote their attention to Johnson rather than to people closer to shore who might need real assistance, Kirkwood said.

DETROIT (AP) — Samuel Wilson stabbed Felix Hammett in the stomach and actually did him a favor, police reported. They explained it this way:

The pair argued and Wilson slashed Hammett. Doctors at Detroit's Receiving Hospital looked at the wound and discovered Wilson had laid bare Hammett's appendix.

Asia Will See The Difference

The trademark of Soviet diplomacy is the arrogant deceit which it practices in even the simplest negotiations.

The Communist diplomats who have seized the right to speak for the people of the Soviet Union know the facts and realities; they know them inside out.

But in their doctrine of counter-revolution, every fact and reality must be twisted to fit the Communist party line here, for instance, is Foreign Minister Molotov's sizeup of Asiatic revolt in a speech at Geneva:

"The peoples of Asia, the populations which constitute more than half the entire population of the globe, have seen a new path and there exists no power or authority which could hinder the new, truly democratic development of the peoples of Asia."

This is true, Molotov and his associates in the Kremlin know what everybody has had a chance to learn about Asia — that its long-oppressed populations are in revolt against further exploitation by colonial powers. India and Pakistan have been made independent. Indochina has been given a belated promise of independence. Western influence in the Orient is declining.

But then Molotov says in the same speech: "While the ruling circles of the United States and of certain other states insist on setting up military blocs, both in Europe and Asia, the Soviet Union upholds the interests of the collective security of people, the establishment of which would eliminate the necessity to set up opposing military groupings of states."

No Asiatic diplomat can fail to realize what kind of collective security the Soviet Union offers. It is security of slaves in satellite states administered by puppet governments. Eventually, the Russians who dominate the Communist party and the Kremlin will be re-leased as the new empire builders.

When that happens, the United States will be revealed as the champion of freedom for Asiatics, unless it has made the mistake in the meantime of letting itself be misrepresented as the defender of colonialism.

No Harm In Asking

It goes without saying that there are times when members of the Republican party wonder who's cringing the bus.

There are times, in fact, when it seems as though the two-party system of government had come apart at the seams and turned the Republicans, who are nominally the majority party, into a crowd of individualists operating on the principle of every man for himself and devil take the hindmost.

Democrats used to give the same impression when they were the nominal majority. And it also goes without saying that Democrats are not grit-stricken to see Republicans under critical scrutiny for a change.

But this does not release Democrats from all scrutiny. As the minority party, it is important that their condition be noticed from time to time.

Take, for example, the matter of party leadership. The latest Democratic candidate for president and presumably the party spokesman is Adlai E. Stevenson. But no one ever hears about Mr. Stevenson any more.

It has been impossible lately to get through 24 hours, however, without hearing about Harry Truman, who supposedly stepped down as party leader when the Democratic convention chose a new leader in 1952. Mr. Truman has an opinion about everything which is a political issue. Might he have an opinion that Adlai E. Stevenson should be waived out of the big leagues of party politics and sent back to the minors?

Can Men Take It?

With no delay whatever, a successor to Earnest A. Hooton should be appointed. As the most acid-tongued critic of the human race, the Harvard anthropologist who died this week had been performing an indispensable function.

Dr. Hooton did not think men were making giant strides forward. On the contrary, he thought men were falling far behind the procession of progress and running a race in reverse with the apes to see who could reach oblivion first.

Dr. Hooton had been putting his money on men to beat the apes to extinction.

Civilization needs someone with his astringent sense of the ludicrous to offset the hopeful Hetties who proclaim solemnly on the hour that men must be getting better and better because here are more of them and they tend to live longer, thanks to better repair services and certain sanitary improvements which were long overdue.

Dr. Hooton had his eye on quality. It was his opinion that the human race was undergoing a whirlwind degeneration of both the body and the mind. He never proved to the complete satisfaction of his critics that he was right. But they, on the other hand, never proved to his complete satisfaction that he was wrong.

Disdain For Principle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U. S. Intentions Deliberately Distorted At Geneva

Here at the confluence of world diplomacy it is possible to discern more clearly than anywhere else the deterioration of moral and spiritual values which has set in nowadays among the so-called intellectual segments of public opinion in various countries.

Here, for example, moral principle is treated by too many persons as just an obsolete habit of expression characteristic of bygone days. It is cynically cast aside as too old-fashioned for this new era of the sophistication of our midst.

The words of public men are examined, not for the strength of purpose they may exhibit but for the weaknesses and cringing retreats they may presumably conceal.

Here the words "compromise" and "bargaining" are constant in the vocabulary of the press, as if Communist imperialism with its aggressive adventures in Korea and Indochina were just another philosophy—a sort of conscientious political belief—and not the evil force that springs from cruel and immoral men.

THE IDEA that there can be a compromise with the satanic masters of intrigue and infiltration into the free world seems to be accepted by so many Europeans—and not a few American commentators back home—that it makes one wonder if the decadence which always precedes the fall of any empire has not begun to eat like a cancer into some of the democracies of the so-called free world.

A good example of reckless disdain for principle is to be found in the tendency here to assume that the United States does not mean what it says when it seeks a means of establishing peace in the world but that it is really bent on prolonging the war in Indochina for war's sake.

This is to be expected from Communist newspapermen, but it is remarkable how distorted an impression of America and its ideals are to be derived from so many newspapermen in non-Communist countries in Europe.

There seems to be an obsession in some Geneva quarters, on the other hand, that America is ready to agree to give away Southeast Asia by one scheme or another, despite everything to the contrary that has been said by President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles.

IT IS AMAZING how the words of the President and the secretary of state are pounced upon and given twisted meanings.

Thus, when the President a week or so ago used the phrase "modus vivendi" to express a generality of temporary adjustment, it was seized upon as meaning a willingness to "surrender" in China to the Communists.

Then on Tuesday of this week, Secretary Dulles, attempting to be obliging to an inquiring press and in response to a hypothetical query, said that even if Indochina were lost, it would not alter our own position in seeking to build up a collective defense to save Southeast Asia. This was transmitted in abbreviated form to Geneva and caused a sensation among the French delegates, who were told by excited European newspapermen that the United States was running out on its ally and was already conceding the fall of Indochina. Promptly the American delegation cabled for the exact text—which, when it arrived, readily reassured French Foreign Minister Bidault, who saw that no such meaning was intended.

If these were isolated instances, it would be understandable, but the tendency seems to be to create situations that either seek to emphasize alleged differences between Eisenhower and his secretary of state or between the delegation. It is surprising, but the assumption always seems to be that the formal statements issued by the American government are being or will be superseded by some of the biased meanings read into offhand comments at press conferences.

SUCH ARE the mischief-making handicaps which face diplomats who represent the United States principles.

It takes more than ordinary stamina to resist such influences, and it may be noted that the United States is standing firmly not only to Korea but also to Indochina.

It is Soviet Russia which—by denouncing the United Nations and rejecting its moral authority to supervise free elections in Korea—is deviating from all moral law and the principle of collective security.

It is Communist China and Soviet Russia who together, under the guise of championing the cause of independence for the nations of Indochina, are actually seeking a way to obtain control of those new states as puppets in the march of Communist imperialism.

Only by steadfast adherence to a great moral purpose with unflinching courage can these evil tendencies be curbed, and it is a matter of great pride that the president and secretary of state are backing up the delegation at Geneva as Undersecretary Bedell Smith presents an unyielding front in behalf of America's moral leadership in the world.

H-Bomb Defense

By MICHAEL AMRINE

Is there any sense in going ahead with a civil defense program in the age of the H-bomb?

Val Peterson, federal director of Civil Defense, says there is, and has warned the mayors of America's "target cities" that the only program that makes sense is to prepare to "Get out of town."

The U. S. Conference of Mayors is now distributing to its members Peterson's answer to the sharp criticism Civil Defense planners have been receiving from mayors across the country.

The story behind the letter is that late last month several mayors, led by Elmer E. Robinson of San Francisco, called on Peterson in Washington and told him frankly that civil defense programs were falling apart under the impact of H-bomb stories.

His answer then, now put into a letter which has been printed for wide distribution, is that "In the face of the increased destructive capacity of hydrogen bombs, planned evacuation of our cities becomes an urgent necessity."

"Our choice is undisciplined mass evacuation from our cities by hysterical mobs in the event of attack, or planned, highly organized and frequently tested evacuation by Civil Defense authorities."

He said the only possible alternatives for city dwellers wishing to avoid massacre in an atomic attack are these:

"Get out. Dig. Or die."

By "dig" he meant the building of vast underground shelters, far bigger than New York's subways or even London's shelters during World War II.

Peterson was told by Mayor Robinson that many mayors had the same reaction as millions of Americans to the H-bomb, namely "That there could be no adequate civil defense against such enemy attacks."

After conferring with Peterson, Robinson now says that he feels early "sensational reports of the H-bomb were greatly exaggerated." Robinson now believes "There are measures which the average citizen can take to save himself and his family."

What these measures are he did not spell out in detail, but Peterson assured the mayors that "The Air Force attack warning system will eventually provide from two to six hours notice of approaching attack."

In the future, cities must be prepared to empty themselves into the surrounding countryside if they get a warning that an attack will strike them within two to six hours, Peterson wrote. There is no other alternative, he insists, and to all critics who say that Boston or New York or Miami or Detroit cannot be evacuated in such a brief time, Peterson replies that they are merely insisting that the situation is completely hopeless.

Shelters to handle concentrations of population in our cities would cost far too much money, Peterson believes. He also revealed there have been no tests to determine whether deep shelters would protect human beings against the fireball of an H-bomb.

He concludes: "No American by choice will deliberately stay in his city to die."

He asked all mayors of important cities to prepare trial evacuations similar to the one recently staged in Spokane, Wash.

Election Problem of The Republican Party

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The Republicans lost five presidential elections between 1932 and 1952 but the party maintained a sizeable following nevertheless.

In some of these elections, it was clear from the votes for governors and senators that many Republicans were not voting for the party's candidate for president.

THE 1952 campaign, the Advertising Council and other bodies put on a campaign to ballyhoo the election, to get the citizens to vote. Dwight D. Eisenhower garnered a vote of 33,936,252, which not only was enormous but which gave evidence that many Democrats, particularly in Southern states, crossed party lines and voted for the Republican candidate for president.

THEY DID NOT cross party lines to vote for Republican candidates for senators and members of the House of Representatives. Therefore President Eisenhower has had an inadequate working majority in either House.

For some reason, not understandable to practical politicians, strategists assumed that he could combine Republicans and Democrats in support of his leadership. However, whenever a vote has been taken, as recently in the matter of the Taft-Hartley law, or actions in various committees of Congress, the Democrats have voted against Eisenhower with a discipline which was not evident when Truman was President.

On the other hand, the Republicans have shown no such discipline or unity since Robert A. Taft died. It would seem to be each man for himself.

While in the House of Representatives, the so-called "leadership" does exercise a large measure of authority, in the Senate it is altogether missing.

The attempt of the "leadership" to reduce the influence of Sen. Joe McCarthy has failed to accomplish its goal and they now face the prospect of a running fight with him on the fundamental White House program, such as farm support.

THIS QUARREL need not have been permitted to develop to its present proportions, producing damage only to the Republican party and the President. The President's "old friend" advisers, John J. McCloy, Lucius Clay and Paul Hoffman, whatever their abilities, have no nexus with the rank and file of the Republican party and they are being blamed increasingly for the party's present troubles.

As the 1954 congressional campaign approaches, hard-working Republicans fear that they will lose this election; that the committee chairmanships will revert to the Democrats; and that Eisenhower will either become a captive of an antagonistic majority or will be forced to veto measures in Congress designed to hurt him and his party.

The McCarthy-Stevens investigation has harmed the Republican party equally among pro and anti-McCarthyites.

IT IS TRUE that some Democrats were projected disadvantageously. For instance, Sen. Stuart Symington may have spoiled his chances as a presidential candidate. Sen. John McClellan faces a tough primary fight in Arkansas. Sen. Fulbright and former Gov. Sidney S. McMath have joined forces against him, Fulbright supporting McMath.

I was recently told in Memphis, Tenn., that there is considerable New York money behind McMath. I do not know whether this is true or not, but a group of New York internationalists send money into states to fight anti-Communist senators.

A senator, under the Constitution, represents his state, not a coterie of busy-beavers who make their headquarters in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and who secretly support candidates of their choice, for whom they cannot lawfully vote.

If such a money-raising crowd is actually engaged in defeating Sen. McClellan, it cannot be because they want the Republicans to win, which is impossible in Arkansas; it can only be because they want to pack the Senate.

The Republicans face the practical problem of saving themselves between now and November. If the present "leadership" cannot do better than it has up to now, the election of 1954 could be disastrous.

Anything For A Change

By TRUMAN TWILL

Many townies will take their summer vacations this year on farms, paying up to $35 a week to ride on tractors, help with the chores and go on simulated hayrides, it says in a blurb that recently has come to hand.

The attraction of these hick vacations is in inverse ratio to the distance that would-be vacationers live from cities. People who live on farms never choose them as vacation sites. They go to cities.

A vacation is supposed to be a change from something. For people who never do physical work, an ideal vacation would be a couple weeks of systematic exercise, to improve their muscle tone.

For laborers, whose muscle tone is perfect, an ideal vacation would be an interval of complete physical rest, with a chance to do something pleasurable with their brains for a change.

It should be obvious but isn't that a vacationer who has been having trouble with nervous tension needs to let off steam and sink down in a complacent heap of protoplasm while his composure heels up.

Stay-at-homes need to get into a go-devil and see what is on the other side of the mountain. Traveling men need to pull up a footstool and stay at home.

People feeling sorry for themselves should spend a fortnight in a slum or a hospital and learn to feel sorry for others.

Greasy-grinders should turn into playboys, and playboys should try their hand at greasy-grinding, except it never occurs to playboys that they, too, need vacations.

Housewives should be waited on hand and foot. Men who resent having to wear neckties while working should be permitted to look like bums.

Penny-pinchers who must watch budgets should go on an uninhibited whingeing for as long as their vacation money lasts.

Townies should get out into the country and look around, and rubes should head for the towns to learn everything they can about traffic congestion, 5 meals, air pollution, art galleries, organized crime and the amenities of gracious living.

America firsters would be well advised to travel abroad, and internationalists would be similarly well advised to travel at home.

Doctors should go where no one is likely to be feeling poorly. Lawyers should escape from litigation and split hairs. Preachers should take time off from saving the souls of men. Sinners should sample the virtues of virtue. It is all very simple.

Those with a strong sense of duty should try to be carefree, and the carefree should buckle down to a sense of responsibility. Everybody should try to rest up from what he is tired of doing by doing the opposite.

Which means this poor denizen of RFD will have to hole up in a noisy city and gawk at the sights. The thought of it is enough to spoil the idea of taking any townies will pay up to $35 a week to help with the chores.

So They Say

Now that we have mastered the ways of destruction so well we can wipe out civilization if we wish, there seems to be no alternative except to create a peaceful world through the United Nations. — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

In simple language Nike (guided missile) is able to be sent into the sky in search of an enemy aircraft. It is able to track down the enemy airplane, intercept it, explode and blast the airplane and its occupants into debris of thousands of small splinters. There is no escape. — Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D. La.).

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Is There No Relief?

I saw upon the TV screen
A quiz best heard and never seen;
I saw it there again today . . .
I wish that it would go away.

Roger Bannister ran a mile in less than four minutes and Stan Musial ran an all-time home-run record into the alley, yet not one of 'em has been named on a committee to speed up the Washington TV program "All's Video on the Potomac," the world's longest and slowest who-dunit. (Bannister, we understand, attributes his speed to the fact that at no time was he urged to "expedite.")

The tragedy at Dien Bien Phu, where brave men died in a battle in which words played little part, makes the Washington screen show seem a pitifully nonessential routine, but the spectacle continues, leaving a paramount conviction in this corner: The situation is now so confused the probers should summon Abbott and Costello to answer the question, "Who's on second?"

The third week of "I Love Verbosity" finds us with these impressions:

1. Noting the ordeal of the martyrs of Dien Bien Phu and the new book in which Gen. William F. Dean describes his year of torture in Chinese prison camps, what's so terrible about the "ordeal" of Robert Stevens? (Or any other witness?) Even 14-day hearings have consumed only about four hours per day and no witness has been on without constant interruptions.

2. We have never known a man from whom it seemed harder to get a yes or no answer than the secretary of the Army.

3. Mr. Jenkins is a lawyer with a record in murder cases and in this case he sometimes seems determined to send both sides to the chair.

4. The Democrats are going to be terribly upset if the hassle ever ends.

5. If the letter pointing up the extreme dangers at a great radar station was a "phony," "a spurious document" and "a copy of exactly nothing," would a summary of a letter pointing to Benedict Arnold in the councils of the British regarding the surrender of West Point have been so described merely because of a difference in salutation and signature?

6. Like or hate Joe McCarthy and his methods, more American are concerned over the possibility of their cities and homes smoldering in ashes through stolen defense-plan secrets than they are disturbed over whether McCarthy and his aides are too rough in spy hunts.

7. The slightest slow motion in getting rid of dangerous men in top-secret plants strikes John Q. Citizen as more worthy of attention than the question of "Who did what to Private Schine and if so, how?"

But on to other matters, boys! Perhaps Ella Logan, reported in a sentimental interlude with ex-Mayor O'Dwyer, owes some of her appeal to her old-time song hit, "What good is what you've got if you're not havin' any fun?"

Tommy Manville testifies that he left school at the age of 12 years . . . Perhaps he quit because the schoolroom didn't have a different teacher every day . . . We keep wondering if the school-yard fence bore any scrawlings, "Tommy loves Alice, Susie, Jennie, Kitty, Millicent, Mollie, Patricia, Hattie, etc."

"Red" Skelton is to play W. C. Fields in a new movie. . . . We can think of nobody less like him.

Dr. John Oliver La Gorce has been elected president of the National Geographic Society, and a news story says "a mountain, a lake, a glacier and a peak have been named after him." Yes, and one of the best golf courses in the country.

Laniel Wins Out 2-Vote Margin

Cabinet To Be Out
After Geneva Talks

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel and his top military advisers faced up to major questions on Indochina policy today, supported only by a two-vote majority in the National Assembly which indicated prompt ousting of the government as soon as the Geneva conference ends.

The 289-287 margin by which Laniel won a vote of confidence last night showed clearly the deputies would have booted the Cabinet out had they not feared a government crisis would suspend the Geneva talks with the Communists on Indochina and Korea.

It appeared that only a major victory over the Communist-led Vietnam rebels—at the conference table in Switzerland or on the battlefield in Indochina—could save Laniel once the Geneva talks were over. Neither victory was expected.

The major item on the government's schedule today was a meeting of the Committee on National Defense, made up of top military and civilian officials. Laniel warned the Assembly the committee would have to consider the making of important decisions.

Laniel gave the Assembly no hint of the nature of these, but informed sources said later they involved proposals to send draftees to Indochina and possibly to extend the 18-month conscription period for certain categories.

Up to now, no conscripts have been sent to Indochina in the seven-year war against the Communist-led rebels. Any decision to send them there would certainly raise a howl throughout war-weary France.

In theory the government has the right to send conscripts to any noncombat area—to Saigon, for example, but not to Hanoi. Draftees sent to noncombat zones could free professional troops for the fighting fronts.

But in reality no government could risk such a move without consulting Parliament, where many deputies are more interested in peace than in continuation of the unpopular Indochina war.

Laniel told the Assembly that more troops, paratroopers, bombers and tanks were being sent to Indochina and that two cruisers have been dispatched to the Gulf of Tonkin.

Observers in Paris considered that the thinness of the Assembly's vote of confidence also was sure to lessen Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's authority at Geneva.

There have been rumblings in the Assembly corridors that Bidault is not willing to press hard enough for peace in Indochina and therefore is not the right man to head the French negotiators.

Last night's vote, though it sustained Laniel's refusal to hold a debate now on Indochina and the fall of Dien Bien Phu, was more a humiliation than a victory for the government.

Laniel insisted that a government crisis now might end the peace negotiations. The Assembly only a week before had upheld the government on the same issue—and the same argument—by a vote of 311-262. The drop in the government's support probably was due almost entirely to the fall in the interim of Dien Bien Phu.

5 Reds Killed In Iran During Prison Riot

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Official sources said five Communist prisoners were shot dead and a number of others wounded at Resht, north of Tehran, yesterday when soldiers put down a prison riot. The prisoners had objected to being locked in their cells.

Nationalists Shower Leaflets On Red China

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warplanes showered eight million anti-Communist leaflets yesterday on the cities of Ningpo and Fenghua in Chekiang province about 120 miles south of Shanghai. The Nationalist air force said the planes flew through 15 minutes of anti-aircraft fire but all returned to their Formosa base without damage.

Salem Historical Society Hears Talk By Max Gard Of Lisbon

"Let's Explore Columbiana County" was the theme of a historical story told by Max Gard of RD. Lisbon to members of the Salem Historical Society at the Tuesday evening meeting in the Public Library.

Mr. Gard, member of the Lisbon Historical Society and a recognized local historian, was presented by George H. Bowman, Jr., president, who was in charge of this session. Matt Melitschka, Jr., program chairman, arranged the entertainment.

Mr. Gard stated that this county was once a part of an inland sea. "Fossils formed about 250 million years ago are frequently found along Little Beaver Creek. These are the impressions of the plant life that existed in this area when the layers of coal were being formed," the historian said.

Mr. Gard exhibited among other relics the tooth of a mastodon.

Mounds in Columbiana County, for the most part, are believed to be burial mounds; he said. Three are near North Georgetown; others are in the vicinity of East Liverpool and East Rochester. "The mound builders came after the ice age and no one knows what became of them. They were followed by the American Indian," the speaker said.

Mr. Gard included some interesting facts in his talk about the trails and Indian caves in the county.

"Between 35 and 40 species of orchids grow in Columbiana County. The cypripedium is the most sel of the subcommittee for this inquiry.

Under persistent cross-examination by Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins, Adams said it was not true, as the McCarthy side alleged, that he and Stevens used Schine as a "hostage" in attempts to induce the subcommittee to halt or divert a search for subversives in the Army.

Denies Hindering Work

Adams said he tried to cooperate with the subcommittee, not hinder its work. "I never made any over-acts which were in any way improper," he said.

Jenkins questioned him closely about his motives in dealing with McCarthy and Cohn. Adams agreed when Jenkins characterized his attitude toward the subcommittee as "placating," "mollifying" or "conciliating."

"But Adams balked at the word appeasement." He said at one point, "That isn't appeasement; that's living with people."

McCarthy repeatedly has blamed "civilian politicians" and hold-over Democrats at the Pentagon for the whole dispute.

But Adams testified Wednesday that it was Sherman Adams, White House chief of staff, who first suggested at a meeting with Brownell and others last Jan. 21 that Adams put in writing a blow-by-blow account of relations with Cohn and McCarthy.

Chronology Brought Hearings Publication of such a chronology and countercharges by the McCarthy camp in mid-March led to the present investigation.

Jenkins never did cut deeply yesterday into the story of the Jan. 21 meeting. Some subcommittee members said they planned searching explorations into that subject.

Jenkins, when asked whether he plans to call Brownell or Sherman Adams or any of the others John Adams says attended the Jan. 21 session, told a newsman:

"I'm not going to tell you a story. So I'm not going to answer your questions."

Brownell declined to give any details about the meeting at his news conference yesterday. The White House had no comment.

To Study Legal Points Brownell did tell newsmen the Justice Department will look into every legal question raised in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

He had been asked specifically about an Army officer said by McCarthy to have given him a portion of the contents of a secret FBI memorandum to the Army about personnel at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., where the senator's investigation centered. McCarthy contended security information had been deleted. Brownell himself had told the subcommittee earlier that "unauthorized use" had been made of the FBI data.

"That will be studied along with the others," the attorney general said yesterday. "The Army has already started its investigation, and normally this is a matter in their primary jurisdiction. We will decide later what else might be necessary to be done."

No Comment On Perjury Asked about the possibility of perjury charges as a result of the Senate hearings, Brownell declined further comment on the proceedings.

McCarthy gave a reporter a "guess" that he wouldn't take more than 10 minutes to question John Adams, although he recalled he had underestimated how long his examination of Stevens would take. Stevens was a witness, off and on, for 14 days and isn't finished yet.

In any event, McCarthy said, his questioning of Adams would be "very brief." He said Cohn would do most of the cross-examination of Adams for his side.

"I intend to cut my cross-examination of every witness down to the very minimum," McCarthy said, "so that we can get back to our other work."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said he was gratified that "the conduct of the hearings has markedly improved" in the past two days.

DOE KILLED BY CAR LISBON — A doe was killed near Bott's Service Station, two miles south of here on Route 30, Thursday night by an unidentified New Jersey motorist, the sheriff's office reported. Witnesses said damage to the auto amounted to about $150.

Two Traffic Mishaps Reported By Police

Two minor traffic mishaps occurred in the city yesterday and this morning, police reported.

A car owned by Kenneth E. Phillips of Damascus and parked on Filbert St. near the City Hall was struck and slightly damaged at 4:50 p.m. Thursday by an auto being backed out of a parking place by Mary F. Schonhut of 196 W. 8th St.

At 7:15 a.m. today, a car operated by Charles E. Snay Jr., Box 141 Hanoverton, struck a light pole, breaking the globe, as he was attempting to back into a parking space in front of 214 E. State St.

Wounded

medical dean who flew to Dien Bien Phu yesterday to arrange the airlift with the Vietnamese, did not obtain any information on the fate of Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, heroic commander of the garrison, or Genevieve de Galard Terraube, French air force nurse who was the only woman in the bastion during the long, bloody siege.

A spokesman said Huard had asked whether De Castries and the nurse were prisoners but "the Vietnamese made no answer."

Vietminh broadcasts have said De Castries was a prisoner, but they have not stated whether he was wounded. The rebels have made no mention of the nurse.

The French Radio Hirondele said the first wounded brought out would be 250 "very serious" cases.

Huard said the operation would be a "painful, slow job," made more difficult by the seasonal monsoon rains.

Nurses, Doctors Mobilized The wounded will all follow the same route — first Luang Prabang then Hanoi and other points. All available nurses, doctors and ambulances in Hanoi were mobilized to receive the men.

The French said yesterday's rebel attack was launched one mile south of Phuly, a key point in the delta on a direct road to Hanoi. They used heavy artillery fire and "massive" air assaults to repel it.

Later French Union infantry, spearheaded by tanks, counterattacked, forcing "several battalions" of regular Vietnamese infantry to flee into the nearby hills.

Rebel losses were described as "extremely heavy." Sixty Vietnamese dead were counted in one spot.

It was the first mass rebel assault inside the delta since last October. Military observers believe it is part of a campaign to take key outposts in preparation for a major Vietnamese drive in the delta, perhaps even on Hanoi.

Knox, County School Boards To Convene

LISBON — Members of Knox Local School board of education will meet Tuesday night at 8 with the Columbiana County Board of Education, starting a program to cement relations in the county school system.

J. L. McBride, county school superintendent, said the plan of inviting school boards was set up to tie the system closer together.

Other school boards will meet with the county board at subsequent regular monthly meetings.

President Lloyd Farmer of Leetonia RD will preside.

Red Cross Official To Be Feted Here

The public is invited to the tea this afternoon from 3 to 5 in the Memorial Building, honoring Mrs. Mary Skinner of Erie, Pa., volunteer field consultant for the eastern area of the American Red Cross, in the northeastern part of Ohio.

Condemned Author's Execution Delayed

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. — Death which Caryl Chessman anticipates in his best-selling novel as "a funny feeling ... a tightening of the belly," passed him by again today.

The 32-year-old author of "Cell 2455, Death Row" was given a lengthy lease on life yesterday, less than 24 hours before his scheduled execution in San Quentin's gas chamber.

Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin County, where San Quentin is located, granted the convicted sex pervert a stay of execution. Chessman's attorney asserted the transcript of his Los Angeles trial as prepared for an appeal to the State Supreme Court was faulty.

Judge Keating also ordered Warden Harley O. Teets of San Quentin to bring Chessman into court at San Rafael Monday and show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not be issued.

The stay of execution probably will prolong Chessman's life at least 60 to 90 days.

He was convicted of kidnapping a 17-year-old girl and a woman of 35 for forcible sex perversion.

3 Members Of Family Killed In Collision

WARREN, Ohio — Two cars crashed at a Warren intersection last night, killing three members of a Ramey, Pa., family.

Killed were Mike Colton, 43, his wife, Helen, 29, and their 6-month old son.

Driver of the other car, Joseph F. Hruska, 29, of Rt. 2, West Middlesex, Pa., was reported in poor condition at Trumbull Hospital.

The state highway patrol said Hruska apparently crashed a stop sign at the intersection of Ohio 5 and 9.

TO LENGTHEN AIRPORT AKRON, Ohio — Summit and Stark county commissioners have approved a plan to lengthen an Akron-Canton Airport runway to 7,000 feet for jet aircraft operation. Longest runway at the airport now is 5,600 feet. The field is 18 miles southeast of Akron on the county line. The two counties would pay between $50,000 and $100,000 for the land for the runway, with the Ohio National Guard footing almost all other expenses.

City Softball Leagues To Open Season Play Monday Night

Class AA, A, Class B, Girls Teams To Compete This Year

By SANDY HANSELL
Mayor Dean Cranmer will throw out the first ball when the city softball leagues open season play at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Kelley Field.

League manager Ward Zeller announced this morning that he has a 12-team circuit, one more than last year, lined up for action this season. In addition, there will be a six-squad girls loop.

Class B play for boys 18 and under will be started in about a week, Zeller said.

A new system will be inaugurated this year in regards to the "A" and "AA" setup, Zeller said.

All 12 teams will be matched together to start, playing one complete round. After each outfit has been pitted against each of the other ballclubs once, the top six will be grouped in the AA classification and the remaining half-dozen will form the "A" league.

Then, second and third rounds will be run off in each loop to determine the various champs. Playoffs and tournaments at the end of the summer will conclude softball activities here.

The Bliss outfit will be defending "AA" champions although Demings won the regular season crown by one game. Other teams ready for action this season are Butler Grange, Mullins, Salem Tool (last year's "A" champ) and Leetonia Merchants. These six outfits seem to be the best bets for earning Double-A status.

The other six entries are Paul and Joe's, Parkers, Electric Furnace, Old Timers, Goshen Grange and Lisbon. Homeworth, defending champions, will lead the pack in the Girls' loop, joined by the Democratic Club, Red Caps, Am-vets, Beloit and Georgetown. The race for honors in all leagues promises to be close. All teams stack up pretty evenly, with no one outfit standing out from the rest of the field.

But, judging from last season's performances and play revealed during practice sessions this year, the following five teams stand out as the most likely prospects to win 1954 league honors.

Bliss

Pitching stands to be Bliss' main threat as Manager "Peanuts" Debnar can call upon either Dick Jackson, who had the best win-loss record in "AA" last season; Wayne "Muscles" Russell or newcomer Frank Lanney.

Debnar reports that almost his entire championship squad will return with the exception of Walt Brian and Bert Sutter. Heading the list of returnees will be catcher Pete Davis and last year's batting king, Sam Pridon. Incidentally, Bliss players will be wearing new uniforms this season.

Confident of his team's chances, Debnar says, "I think we'll take it again this year."

Demings

"New faces" will highlight manager Pete Saunders' Demings nine, as the Pumpers have signed several top-notch players from the now-defunct Amvet ballclub.

Foremost among the newcomers are centerfielder Ed Duce and shortstop Dumps Balsley. Handling the mound duties for Demings will be reliable Dave Ehrhart, who led the "AA" loop in earned run averages last year.

Dick Bouden and Wayne Hahn are expected to handle most of the heavy stick work for Demings, one of the co-favorites along with Bliss. Manager Saunders comments: "We're stronger than last year and I think we ought to take it."

Salem Tool

Youth will be the keynote of the Salem Tool aggregation this season. Manager Joe Kozar reports that he has signed several young players, including a trio of highly-regarded high school sluggers. "We don't have a team full of veterans like Demings and Bliss," Kozar stated, "but I think my kids will show as good as the next team and give them all a good run for it."

Billy Herman will lead the mound corps. In compiling a 15-0 regular-season slate last year, Herman chucked four no-hitters. Leo Kline and Jerry Ball will back up Herman with John Volio behind the plate.

Last year's "A" batting champ, Tom Cope, will again be swinging for Toot this season, as will Ball and veteran Kirby Laughlin, who was signed recently.

Butler Grange

Power hitting will highlight the Grange outfit this year, according to Manager Gale Stewart. "We have the best hitting outfit out there," Stewart claims. "And although we fell off last season, I don't see why we can't take it this year."

Grange also will have three new performers this year: outfielder Ed Bozich, third baseman Del Court and catcher Chuck Montgomery. Glenn Mercer, whom Stewart calls "one of the best" will handle hurling duties.

Mullins

"An unknown quantity" defines the Mullins club at this point. Pete Wukotich, who assumed the managerial reins early this week, confesses he hasn't had much of an opportunity to evaluate his team.

Wukotich says that he has lost several boys from last year but has picked up some good-looking new prospects. In particular, the manager is looking for good things from outfielder Ken Detwiler.

Red Hall, Ed Hrvatin and Wukotich himself will lead the batting parade, while veteran hurler Johnny McQuiston again will get the pitching assignments for Mullins.

"I think we ought to be pretty good this season," Wukotich commented.

The first week's schedule follows:

7:45 Goshen Grange vs. Bliss

Forney Leads In Point-Standings

Another outstanding program of stock car racing is in store for fans at the Canfield Speedway on Saturday night. Since the season is three weeks old, drivers have the feel of the track now and are going all out for a large share of the purses offered.

Bill Forney, Youngstown, took an early lead in the point-standings this week with a 148 total. Forney placed third in the feature race at Wednesday's mid-week inaugural, finishing behind Jim Florian, Cleveland, who won his first feature of the season, and Norm McCarthy, Bedford.

Forney has placed first, third and fourth in four races to gain a two-point edge over Mike Klapak of Warren. Mike Little of Johnstown, has 128 for third spot and Bob James, Dedford, trails with 126. Others over the 100 mark are Johnny Duris, Bedford; Tommy Kane, Youngstown; Jerry Carver, Canfield; George Shimley, Warren, and Bob Greer, Hubbard.

Greer and Klapak will be known as "Pop and Grandpa" around the circuit now. Greer, a son-in-law of Klapak, became the father of a baby girl Thursday morning. Saturday's eight-race card will include four heat dashes, the Australian Pursuit, semifinals, a special Hard Top event and the 25-lap feature.

Roberts Hurls 1-Hitter As Phils Beat Redlegs 8-1; Dodgers, Braves, Giants, Yankees Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Will a present-day pitcher ever pitch a perfect game?

This fine old baseball debate was revived again today after the latest feat of near-perfection by Robin Roberts, the right-handed half of the Philadelphia Phillies' "Gold Dust Twins."

Tribe Scores 6 In 9th

Indians Trip Nats 8-7 In 11 Innings

CLEVELAND — Cleveland's Indians—beaten twice in a row, despite late rallies—made their third batting spree pay off yesterday with a victory.

Held to a single hit in eight innings, the Tribe broke loose with six runs to tie the Washington Nats in the bottom of the ninth and then got another tally in the 11th for an 8-7 win.

Such tactics failed to yield a victory over New York Tuesday when the Indians fell two runs short and Roberts gave up a home run to Bobby Adams, leading off for Cincinnati last night, and then retired 27 men without another one reaching first base. He won 8-1.

Except that it was a home run instead of a single, Roberts' game was virtually a carbon copy of one tossed a year ago this week by his buddy, lefty Curt Simmons. Simmons mowed down the Milwaukee Braves in order through nine complete innings after Billy Burton had singled as the leadoff batter.

Neither Roberts nor Simmons was born when Charles Robertson of the Chicago White Sox beat Detroit in April 1922 in the majors' last perfect game—no runs, no hits, no base runners. Only three others ever have been recorded in the modern majors, none of them in the National League.

Two weeks ago Roberts pitched his first one-hitter, against Milwaukee. That time he walked three men.

The Phillies maintained their half game, first-place lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who beat St. Louis 10-3, Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and New York whipped Cincinnati 6-3 in other National League action.

In the American League, New York edged Detroit 5-3 in 10 innings on Yogi Berra's two-run homer; Boston beat Baltimore 9-1; Philadelphia defeated Chicago 3-2; and Cleveland shaded Washington 8-7 in 11 innings.

If the Cardinals could figure out a way to miss Brooklyn on their Eastern swing they undoubtedly would be much happier. They lost in Ebbets Field for the 12th straight time in two seasons, this time to southpaw Johnny Podres, who won his fourth in a row. A six-run uprising against Gerry Staley in the sixth inning finished off the Cards' chances.

Chet Nichols, who was supposed to take up the slack left in the Milwaukee pitching staff upon the departure of Johnny Antonelli and Max Surkont, won his second game after three losses in beating Pittsburgh. He gave up eight hits, all singles.

Milwaukee moved ahead of both Cincinnati and St. Louis into the first division.

The Giants laid down a home-run barrage that left the Cubs staggering in the Polo Grounds. They hit five, including two by Monte Irvin.

Home runs by New York's American League representatives ruined Briggs Stadium in Detroit. Trail the evening for baseball's largest crowd of the season—50,916 at night 3-1, the Yankees caught up in the eighth on Irv Noren's two-run homer and then won in the 10th when Berra parked one into the upper right-field seats with one aboard.

Inspired by a practice home run by Ted Williams, the Red Sox broke out of their hitting slump and slammed Baltimore pitching for 11 safeties. They bunched five of them, along with two Oriole errors, for six runs in the third. Williams, although dressed, was not in the playing lineup.

The Athletics used a two-run rally in the ninth to snap a six-game losing streak at the expense of the White Sox. A single by Gus Zernial and a double by Pete Suder drove in the winning runs off Virgil Trucks.

The Indians beat Washington although they went into the last of the ninth inning trailing by six runs. Al Rosen touched off the late spree with a home run and doubled in the winning run in the 11th.

Washington got its other runs in the fifth and sixth. In the fifth, Joe Tipton doubled. Wayne Terwilliger bunted safely and Busby hit a homer. In the sixth, Rannels forced Wright and then scored on McDermott's double.

Washington got its other runs in the fifth and sixth. In the fifth, Joe Tipton doubled. Wayne Terwilliger bunted safely and Busby hit a homer. In the sixth, Rannels forced Wright and then scored on McDermott's double.

Ben Johnson's two-hitter failed to net a victory last night and Louisville took a 1-0 decision over Toledo to move into second place of the American Association.

Ivan Delock was the winner, yielding four hits. The Colonels scored in the sixth when, with one away, Don Buddin walked, was sacrificed by Delock and came home on Marty Keough's single to center.

Toledo tried to back Johnson to victory, loading the bases in the seventh without avail.

Charleston pelted four Columbus pitchers for 12 hits and an 8-6 triumph. It was the Redbirds sixth straight setback.

Charleston starter Marv Rotblatt lasted four innings and Phil Haugstad failed in relief. Then veteran Bill Voiselle took over and easily notched his first victory by holding the Redbirds scoreless the last four rounds.

Only two games were scheduled.

Philly Drives In 18
Runs, Hitting Only .171

CLEVELAND — Manager Al Lopez won't worry about Dave Philley's low batting average if the veteran Cleveland outfielder continues to drive in runs at his present pace. Philley has batted in 18 tallies, although he has collected only 14 hits in 82 trips for a .171 mark.

THURSDAY'S STARS
BATTING — Al Rosen, Cleveland Indians, hit a home run to ignite a six-run ninth inning rally that tied the score and then doubled home the winning run as Cleveland defeated Washington 8-7 in 11 innings.

PITCHING — Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phillies, gave up a leadoff home run to Bobby Adams, then retired 27 in order in pitching his second one-hitter of the season 8-1 over Cincinnati.

Targets Up!

National Bench Rest Marksmen To Hold Weekend Shoot

The bench rest target shooters will take a bead at breaking existing records when the National Registered Shoot is held Saturday and Sunday at nearby Augusta.

Scene of the shoot is Reed's Run Rifle Range nine and one-half miles south of Hanoverton, on State Route 9.

Omar Rinehart and Paul Gottschall of Salem are members of the Augusta Club whose membership includes 21 top-notch bench rest marksmen. One of them is a woman, Mrs. George McMillan of Minerva, whose husband also belongs.

Shooters are expected from New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana and other states. On hand will be Al Creighton, national champion.

The schedule will begin Saturday morning with 100-yard events. The 200-yard shooting is set for Sunday. The 300-meter range also will be used Sunday.

Three Willies are among the leading jockeys this year—Willie Harmatz, Willie Shoemaker and Willie Hartack.

Clean-Up Night Set At Mt. Nebo Grange

George Seederly, Civil Defense chairman of Columbiana, showed three films to grangers at Mt. Nebo hall Wednesday evening.

Mervin Bartholow, accompanied by his father Glen Bartholow, played a slide trombone solo, "The Marine Hymn."

The juvenile program was as follows: song by the grange, "Down by the old Mill Stream"; story, "Poor Kitty," by Kay Cook; and solo by Mervin Bartholow.

Roll call was answered by naming "My favorite radio or TV star." Song by the grange, "The Church in the Wildwood," concluded the program.

Melvin Bricker won first place in the birdhouse construction contest and Ronnie Wilhelm, second. "Clean-up night" will be held tonight and S. D. Bailey was named chairman of the project. The juveniles will plant the flowering crab which they have bought. A Wiener roast will be an added feature.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gauding, who recently returned from a Florida honeymoon, will be honored.

Police Assist Mental Health Fund Campaign

Canisters for contributions to the Ohio Mental Health Fund campaign, which is now underway, have been placed in public places here by Police Chief Nerr Gaunt.

In making the announcement, the chief said: "Mental illness affects us at all ages, children, youth, adults. It is our commonest illness. Yet, most of us have done little to help fight mental illness. Half of the hospital patients in Ohio are in mental hospitals. But we can help prevent mental illness by giving generously to this fund to aid treatment and research."

Board Receives 10 Bids On School Buses

LEETONIA — The Board of Education met in the Leetonia High School Wednesday talking to dealers who submitted bids on school buses which the board will buy to replace those owned by Vernon Walters and Frank Stouffer. Ten bids were received and considered. Final decision will await Mr. Rummel's return from Columbus.

The Senior class roll was accepted. Charles Stelts, president of the board of education, was chosen to give diplomas this year, as he has a son graduating.

Superintendent Rummel was authorized to purchase three new typewriters for use in the commercial department; to sell three typewriters now in use to students at $20; and to purchase an electric typewriter for use in the office.

THE SCHOOL CALENDAR for 1954-55 was adopted at the meeting. The Mennonite Church was granted the use of the High School building for their Bible school to run June 7 through June 20.

Karl Meinhardt, music instructor was employed for eight weeks during the summer.

The following superintendents met recently to discuss school calendars for the next year: Mr. Hersh, East Palestine; D. W. Bailey, Columbiana; V. J. Ullman, Lisbon; D. D. Rummel, Leetonia; J. L. McBride, county superintendent; and A. W. Shields, Salineville.

THE EAGLES will hold a dance

Saturday evening for members and their families.

Shooting Down Planes After Bombing Too Late, CD Warns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One day last year the Air Force sent a B-29 bomber across Michigan, Indiana and Ohio to simulate an enemy attack on Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton.

The plane got to the Ohio-Indiana line before a sky-watcher reported it. It got within four seconds flying time of Wright-Patterson before fighter planes caught it.

"We assumed the target was hit," says E. W. King, state civil defense director of public information.

"We can knock down their bombers," he said in a recent interview, "but who wants them after they drop their bombs?"

If the enemy should decide to turn a cold war into a shooting war, Ohio CD officials look for one big paralysis raid, a Pearl Harbor type of attack aimed at knocking out prime military and industrial targets in Ohio and other parts of the nation.

And the sky-watcher, the volunteer in the ground observer corps (GOC) is the first outpost, the key to the whole CD warning system. CD officials say an enemy attack might happen this way:

A fleet of enemy bombers start from a base in the polar regions. Taking advantage of the jet stream, a current of air that sweeps down from the northwest and away to the northeast, they will come down over Canada. Ohio targets thus will be among the first reached. The enemy bombers will carry, in addition to atomic targets thus will be among the and hydrogen bombs, germ bombs, incendiaries and high explosives.

Whether the enemy planes are spotted before they reach their targets may depend on a volunteer sky watcher in some lonely, remote spot, says Maj. C. H. Anderson, Air Force liaison officer with the Ohio CD.

Radar? We "would go bankrupt" trying to throw up an adequate radar net, says Maj. Anderson.

The Air Force looks to GOC to make up for radar's deficiencies. Ohio should have 500 GOC posts operating around the clock, Maj. Anderson says. Now there are only 140 spots, and only 75 operating on a 24-hour daily schedule.

An Associated Press survey on CD at various points around the state brought such responses as these:

Lancaster—GOC post which functioned from February, 1953, closed down when volunteer force dropped from 200 to 35 during the winter.

East Liverpool—The county had three GOC posts 18 months ago. Only one now operates a few hours a week. CD has been a paper organization for two years here and the future outlook is not good.

Warren—None of the four GOC units is staffed 24 hours a day. The county has 3,000 CD workers, needs 20,000.

Portsmouth—Start made "with some enthusiasm" after World War II has bogged down because of lack of interest and funds. Area counting heavily on Red Cross disaster units.

Marietta—Increased GOC activity in this chemical industry center has 10 observation posts operating, five of them on 24-hour basis.

Mount Vernon—A spotting tower is manned 130 hours weekly. The GOC unit recently received an acoustic airplane detector, the first to be installed in Ohio, for operation on a test basis.

Despite a majority of unfavorable over favorable responses, King says there has been a steady increase in ground observer activity throughout the state.

"Observer posts close down," he remarked, "but then the Air Force goes in and gets someone to organize others."

"People lose interest—get tired of watching the sky night after night without seeing a single plane—But other people get interested and take the places of those who drop out."

The Ohio CD organization, tied to a Canadian network by a direct line from Canton filter center to London, Ontario, expects "at the very most" 15 minutes notice in the event of an attack, King said. He added that is not sufficient time to permit evacuation of cities.

King says there may be time to get people into shelters before a possible attack. After that, "hoping for the best and preparing for the worst," he said, the state CD organization has at its command trained "mobile support" units, 5,000 volunteers in all, ready to move from rural areas into industrial areas for relief work, fire fighting and other disaster services.

He says now the state CD is deep in the matter of how to keep production going in the event an enemy tries for a knockout blow.

One of King's major assignments now is indoctrinating people in industry on the importance of maintaining production in the event of an enemy attack.

Asked how the Nike anti-aircraft rockets reportedly being assigned to the Cleveland area would affect defenses, King said: "If you don't know they (enemy planes) are coming, what good will the rockets do?"

How well could the people of Ohio withstand an attack?

"There'll be the worst panic you ever saw," King remarked. "But when they get over it and find out what happened, they'll be so mad nothing will stop them."

Susan Ball, Dick Long To Make TV Appearance

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Susan Ball, the actress who lost her leg to cancer, and her new husband Dick Long will make their first professional appearance together on television May 27.

The young couple, wed last month, will co-star on Video Theatre over CBS-TV.

Miss Ball, still training on an artificial leg, will portray an auto accident victim confined to a wheel chair. Long, playing a returning GI, goads her into walking again.

4-Legged Chick Must Scratch For Itself

WOODRUFF, S. C. (AP)—It looks like a 3-week-old chick named Peepsie will have to scratch for itself. But it shouldn't find it hard.

Its owner said the other 4,499 chicks he bought with Peepsie drove the odd fowl into isolation by pecking at its legs—all four of them.

Separate quarters have been built for Peepsie.

Senator Terms Ike 'Useless President'

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (AP)—Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) told an audience of West Virginia Democrats last night that in all his 32 years in Washington he had never seen a "more useless president than Dwight D. Eisenhower."

He paid tribute to Eisenhower's leadership of the nation's armed forces in time of war, but urged "his hearers:

Let's go against the Eisenhower administration before it entirely ruins this country."

Neely, who is campaigning this year for re-nomination and re-election, spoke off the cuff at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Reds Making Shoes From Chicken, Turkey Skins

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Communist Hungary's shoe industry is readying a new line of ladies' footwear, made of the skins of chicken legs and turkeys.

An announcement in the Budapest newspaper Magyar Nemzet said the footwear from fowls has "an amazing resemblance" to the crocodile and lizard skins already widely used for such purpose.
